

Environmental Policy

MedArray endeavors to conduct its business in an environmentally responsible manner by:

- Conducting our operations in a commercially reasonable manner that protects the environment;
- Making prudent efforts to reduce or prevent pollution from our operations through the continual identification of environmental risks;
- Complying with laws and regulations applicable to our operations including environmental requirements;
- Administering our research, manufacturing, and environmental processes/systems to achieve continual improvement; including developing an operational framework to achieve objectives and targets compatible with the environment;
- Providing training and instruction to enable conformance with the operational objectives and targets and understanding of the environmental impact;
- Working with our suppliers and subcontractors to be environmentally responsible as they provide service to MedArray;
- And, communicating this policy to associates, suppliers, and subcontractors working on MedArray's behalf and to the public by posting this policy on our website.

Our commitment to supporting environmental protection of air, water, land and natural resources is and will remain a priority for MedArray.
